

A linear relationship has a constant rate of change which can be proportional or non-proportional.

Linear and proportional

Linear and non-proportional

