

A line is a set of points that form a straight path that goes in opposite directions without ending.